PUBLIC COMMENT

Kim Sparks, Beaumont School Community Coalition, provided statistics about bullying. There has been a steady increase in bullying, including sexual harassment, at Beaumont. This is prohibited in district policies. These concerns were brought to the attention of Beaumont administration and Regional Director Karl Logan. Students are entitled to a legally safe environment. Aidan Gladden stated his concern about the lack of discipline at Beaumont; he ended up in the hospital this year. He and his parents have tried to deal with this at the school; he would write up the incident, but nothing ever happened. Sometimes you were alone; sometimes it was in a group. The week before the incident, he was punched in the head in the hallway. The student was suspended for two days. When the perpetrator returned, Aidan was punched again and choked, became unconscious and went to the hospital. He thinks the kids have now been expelled.

Will Dart stated that he, along with many parents in the audience, were in support of the Metropolitan Learning Center (MLC). MLC has been around for a long time, and has been a successful alternative school. It is a welcoming, inclusive community. MLC nurtures and encourages students to succeed. However, the current administration at the school seems unaware of the success at the school and the strongest core of MLC has come under attack. There is no support for alternative learning from the administration. The parents are confused about why such a success story is challenged. A better principal evaluation process was needed.

Donna Martin commented that MLC is one of oldest alternative schools in the country and one of the best in PPS. Test scores are 20 percent better than others. The Administrator was currently trying to fix something that was not broken. Parents have talked to the Regional Administrator and his superior, and they presented a letter signed by over 100 parents, asking for a moratorium on changes, but have been told changes have to be put into place. Ms. Martin asked the Board to please reverse these changes.

Randy Foster reported that many teachers do not feel supported by the current administration at MLC, and parents feel they are just being handled. This year, many changes were put in place that was not initially shared with staff and families; an open and transparent process was needed.

Autumn Arms stated that the new Vice-Principal at MLC brought changes that were more top down. At one point, the Vice-Principal compared his daughter's success to her son's failure, and said he was glad and statement before the legislative session opened; that guides him during the session. He also works with department heads to address technical issues that need to be addressed by the legislature. Superintendent Smith added that PPS also works with COSA, OSBA and other districts so that we all have a common message, especially around school funding.

MONTHLY CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT BOND UPDATE

Jim Owens, Executive Director of School Modernization, reported that the Board had a detailed report before them about what was occurring.

Director Regan asked whether staff had any idea about how many jobs our summer construction work was creating in Portland and is it possible to have solar films and panels on our buildings. Mr. Owens responded that staff would calculate the work that was created over the summer and added that the Bond Accountability Committee was performing a feasibility study on the solar films and panels.

BOARD LEADERSHIP ELECTION

Director Morton nominated Director Belisle for Board Chair.
Director Adkins nominated Director Knowles for Vice-Chair.

BUSINESS AGENDA

Neil Sullivan, Chief Financial Officer, and Sara Bottomley, Assistant Budget Director, provided background on Resolution 4775, approved by the Board on June 17, 2013. Staff inadvertently had left out a paragraph regarding appropriations.

Director Buel asked for clarification on the Apple Computer contract. Superintendent Smith explained that the Apple Computers were part of Roosevelt's School Improvement Grant. vcttn rewM
